Investing Disclosures

Non-Solicitation

This material should not be construed as an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any security in any jurisdiction where such an offer or solicitation would be illegal.

Prospectus Offering

Read the fund's prospectus and summary prospectus (if available) carefully before investing. It contains the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses and other information, which should be considered carefully before investing. Obtain a prospectus and summary prospectus (if available) by contacting us at support@q-innovator.net

General Disclosures

Performance displayed represents past performance, which is no guarantee of future results. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate so that when shares are redeemed, they may be worth more or less than original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. For up-to-date fund performance, including performance current to the most recent month-end, please visit our web site at www.q-innovator.net.

ETFs are subject to third-party transaction fees/commissions. Net asset value (NAV) is calculated by subtracting total liabilities from total assets, then dividing by the number of shares outstanding. Market close is the last price at which shares are traded. Fund shares may trade at, above or below NAV. For additional information, please see the fund's prospectus.

Q-innovator Limited ('Q-innovator ') may amend your dollar based sale to a share based order in our aggregation process.

Asset Allocation/Diversification Disclosure

Asset Allocation/Diversification does not ensure a profit and may not protect against loss in declining markets. Investors should refer to the individual ETF prospectus for a more detailed discussion of the specific risks and considerations for an individual ETF.

ETF Risk Disclosures

General Risks

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) are subject to market risk, including the possible loss of principal. The value of the portfolio will fluctuate with the value of the underlying securities. ETFs trade like a stock, and there will be brokerage commissions associated with buying and selling exchange traded funds unless trading occurs in a fee-based account. ETFs may trade for less than their net asset value.

Bond Risks

ETFs may have underlying investment strategy risks similar to investing in commodities, bonds, real estate, international markets or currencies, emerging growth companies, or specific sectors. When investing in bonds, it is important to note that as interest rates rise, bond prices will fall. Due to their narrow focus, sector-based investments typically exhibit greater volatility.

Downgrade Risk

The chance that bonds will have their credit ratings reduced, which could reduce the future income expectation of the bond. Specifically, companies issuing high-yield bonds are generally not as financially strong as companies rated investment grade.

Default Risk

The chance that a bond issuer will fail to make its scheduled interest or principal payments.

Credit Spread Risk

The chance that the market value of a bond will decline and/or the price performance of a bond will be worse than that of other bonds. An example would be the yield premium between Treasury bonds and non-Treasury bonds where the spread can increase with the Treasury bond price going up and the market price of the non-Treasury bond declining.

Historical Performance

The historical performance data for individual securities quoted on the Q-innovator platform represents past performance, does not guarantee future results, is provided "as is" and solely for information purposes, is not advice or for trading purposes, may be subject to pricing delays, should not be used for tax reporting, may not reflect actual future performance, and is gross of Q-innovator fees. Prices may vary due to network availability, market volatility, and other factors. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. There is a potential for loss as well as gain that is not reflected in the information portrayed. The performance results shown do not represent the results of actual trading executed using client assets. Investors on Q-innovator may experience different results from the results shown. The choices made by Q-innovator to display certain investments and time horizons have a direct effect on investment performance, and different choices would result in different historical performance results. Not all investments on the Q-innovator platform are available to all clients.

Holdings Data

For up-to-date fund(ETF) holdings data, please visit the funds webpage. Please read the fund's prospectus and summary prospectus (if available) carefully before investing. It contains the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses and other information, which should be considered carefully before investing. Obtain a prospectus and summary prospectus (if available) by visiting the funds website or email support@Q innovator.net.

Portfolio Data

Performance data is subject to pricing delays, provided for information purposes only, should not be used for tax reporting, and is not an indicator of future performance. Prices are subject to delay and may vary due to network availability, market volatility, and other factors. Cash includes other balances that may not be payable upon demand such as proceeds from unsettled trades and/or from deposits or withdrawals that have not cleared.

Small Cap Risks

You should read the information about the significant risks of this ETF before making an investment decision. In addition to the usual market risk, Small Cap ETFs will be exposed to securities of smaller capitalization companies. Smaller capitalization companies may, from time to time, and especially in falling markets, become less liquid and experience short-term price volatility. They may also be less financially secure than larger, more established companies and depend on a small number of key personnel, which increases the risk of the company's failure if a product fails, management changes or if there are other adverse developments.

Sector and International Risks

There are special considerations associated with international investing, including the risk of currency fluctuations and political and economic events. Investing in emerging markets may involve greater risk and volatility than investing in more developed countries. When investing in real estate companies, property values can fall due to environmental, economic, or other reasons, and changes in interest rates can negatively impact the performance

Market Risk

Market risk (also known as systematic risk) generally affects most or all securities in the marketplace, which means that this risk cannot be fully diversified away. Some common factors that broadly affect securities are changes in interest rates, inflation, currency exchange rates, and the political and economic environment. In the short term, security prices can fluctuate dramatically in response to these developments. Different companies and different asset classes (such as cash, bonds, and equities) can react differently to these developments. The worst effects of market risk can be avoided by investing across asset classes that tend to perform differently under the same market and economic factors and investing over a long-time horizon.

Inflation Risk

The risk that the value of an account, including interest, does not keep pace with inflation, thus reducing purchasing power.

We may collect information about you when you visit our Sites or use the Services, including the following:

Registration Information – When you create an Account or use the Services, we may ask you to provide us with your name, mailing address, telephone number, and email address to create an Account.

Identity Verification Information - We may ask you to provide us with additional Personal Information when you use the Services, which we may use in conjunction with service providers acting on our behalf to verify your identity, source of funds and address, and/or to manage the risk as required by applicable law. This information may include your date and place of birth, tax or government identification number, a copy of your government-issued identification, or other personal information.

Transaction and Experience Information – When you use the Services, we may collect transaction information, as well as other information associated with the transaction, such as the amount of a purchase/sale order. This information may include your digital wallet address, Internet Protocol (IP) address, cookie identifiers, mobile carrier, mobile advertising identifiers, MAC address, details about your browser or device, geolocation information., Internet service provider, pages you visit before and after using the Services, and other information about how you use the Services. This information would be collected to facilitate the Services we provide.

Information about you from third party sources - We may obtain information from third party sources, such as public databases, identity verification partners and credit agencies, where permitted by law. Such information may include your name, account number and/or customer identification with a third party, address, job title, public employment profile, credit history, status on any sanctions list maintained by public authorities and other relevant data.

Other information we collect related to your use of the Services - We may collect additional information, including email address, telephone number, mailing address from or about you when you contact us, contact our customer support teams or respond to a survey. Such information will be collected to maintain contact with you and provide you with the Services.

4. How do we process personal information? We may process your information for the following purposes:

To operate this Site and provide the Services, including:

generally manage information and individual accounts; authenticate your access to your Account; communicate with you about your Account and your transactions; provide a personalized experience and implement the preferences you request; keep your Account information up to date and process transactions; To manage our business needs, such as monitoring, analyzing and improving the Services and the performance and functionality of the Sites; ensure quality control and staff training; develop new products and Services: enforce our agreements with third parties:

To manage risk and verify your identity. We may use Personal Information to improve security, monitor and verify access to the Service, combat spam or other malware or security risks; prevent potentially prohibited or illegal activities; and enforce our Terms of Service.

To facilitate services provided by third parties. We may provide your Personal Information to any third party if you choose to provide any services provided to you directly by such third party. For example, if you choose to enter Fiat.

To market to you the Services and the products and Services of unaffiliated companies. We may also Process your Personal Information to uniquely tailor marketing content, advertisements and offers, and certain Services or experiences on the Site to better match your interests on the Site.

To provide personalized Services. We may use your Personal Information and other information collected in accordance with this Privacy Policy to provide targeted display, functionality or deliver targeted offers based on your communication preferences.

To comply with our obligations and enforce our terms of services, including compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

To provide customer support, such as responding to your requests, resolving disputes and troubleshooting problems.

Other uses. We may use personal information for any other purpose communicated to you at the time you provide such information or otherwise with your consent.

5. How do we use cookies and tracking technologies?

When you visit the Site or use the Services, we may use cookies, pixel tags, local storage and other tracking technologies (collectively, "Cookies") to automatically collect information through the Services, for the following purposes (1) to recognize you as User and personalize your online experiences, the Services you use and other online content and advertising; (2) measure the effectiveness of promotions and perform analysis; (3) help us understand how our Users use and interact with the Services so that we can improve them and offer you enhanced functionality when using the Services; and (4) mitigate risk, prevent potential fraudulent activity, enhance security, and promote trust and confidence through this Site and the Services.

With third parties who provide services to us: We may share Personal Information with third party service providers who perform the Services and functions at our direction and on our behalf. These third-party service providers may, for example, provide you with the Services, verify your identity, assist in processing transactions, send you advertising for the Services, or provide you with customer support. By using the Services, you have acknowledged and approved that the third party service providers have the right to collect, process and store your Personal Information.

With other third parties to protect us or others We may share information about you with other parties for our business purposes, including:

to protect the vital interests of a person;

to protect our property, the Services and legal rights;

to help assess and manage risk and prevent fraud against us, our Users and fraud involving the Site or the use of the Services, including fraud occurring or involving our business partners, strategic companies or other persons:

to companies with which we plan to merge or be acquired; and to support our audit, compliance and corporate governance functions

With other parties as permitted or required by law and regulations: We may share information about you with other parties if we need to do so to comply with a law, legal process, or regulations; or as required by law enforcement, regulators, government officials or other third parties in connection with a subpoena, court order or other legal process or requirement under applicable law or regulation; or when we believe, in our sole discretion, that disclosure of Personal Information is necessary or appropriate to prevent physical harm or financial loss; or to report suspected illegal activity or to investigate violations of a user agreement; or to satisfy regulatory requirements as applicable to provide our Services.

With your consent: We will also share your Personal Information and other information with your consent or direction, including if you authorize an account connection to a third-party account or platform.

7. Why do we retain personal information?

We retain Personal Information to comply with our legal or regulatory obligations and for our business purposes. We may retain Personal Information for longer periods than required by law if it is in our legitimate business interests and not prohibited by law. If your Account is closed, we may take steps to mask Personal Information and other information, but we reserve the ability to retain and access the data for as long as necessary to comply with applicable laws. We will continue to use and disclose such Personal Information in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

8. How do we protect your personal information?

We maintain appropriate technical, physical and administrative security measures designed to provide reasonable protection of your Personal Information against loss, misuse, unauthorized access, disclosure and alteration. Security measures include firewalls, data encryption, physical access controls to our data centers, and information access authorization controls. However, we cannot guarantee that there will be no loss, misuse, unauthorized acquisition or alteration of your data. While we strive to protect our systems and the Services, you are responsible for protecting and maintaining the privacy of your password(s) and your Account registration information, for example by choosing a password of sufficient length and complexity, and not disclosing account credentials to third parties, and verifying that the Personal Information we maintain about you is accurate and up-to-date. We are not responsible for protecting any Personal Information that you transmit to us or receive from us over the Internet or wireless connection, including by email, telephone or SMS, as we have no way of protecting that information once it leaves and until it reaches us.

9. Can minors use the Services?

The Site and Services are not directed to persons under 18 years of age ("Minors"). We do not knowingly collect information, including Personal Data, from Minors or other persons who are not legally qualified to use the Site and Services. If we have actual knowledge that we have collected Personal Data from a Minor, we will immediately delete it, unless we are legally required to retain such data, and we will take the necessary steps to deactivate that Account

10. Third Party Websites and Social Media Platforms

The Services may contain links to websites and services that are owned or operated by third parties (each, a "Third Party Service"). Any information that you provide on or to a Third Party Service or that is collected by a Third Party Service is provided directly to the owner or operator of the Third Party Service and is subject to the owner or operator's privacy policy. We are not responsible for the content, privacy or security practices and policies of any Third Party Services. To protect your information, we recommend that you carefully review the privacy policies of all Third Party Services that you access.

Our Services may include access to publicly accessible blogs, forums or social media platforms. Personal information that you voluntarily transmit or post online to a publicly accessible blog, forum, or social media platform may be viewed and used by others without restriction. By using such services, you assume the risk that your personal information may be viewed and used by third parties for any purpose.

11. Contact us

Changes to this Privacy Policy. We may revise, modify or replace this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes in our business, the Site or Services, or applicable laws. The revised Privacy Policy will be effective as of the published effective date. If the revised version includes a material change, we will notify you in advance by posting a notice of the change on the "Policy Update" page of our website. We may also notify Users of the change by email or other means.

Transfers of your personal information to other countries. Our operations are supported by a network of computers, cloud-based servers and other information infrastructure and technology, including, but not limited to, third-party service providers. By using our Sites and Services, you agree that all information collected through or by this Site may be transferred, processed and stored anywhere in the world, including, without limitation, in the cloud, on our servers, in the servers of our affiliates or on the servers of our service providers, to provide the Services. And you consent to your Personal Data being transferred to other countries, including countries that have different data protection rules than your country. We will protect your information as described in this Privacy Policy if your Personal Information is transferred to other countries. We do not represent that our Sites and Services are appropriate or available in any particular jurisdiction.

12. Others

You may contact us if you have general questions about our Privacy Policy and practices or questions about your Account information or Personal Information. We offer users the opportunity to review and correct their personal information when it is inaccurate. You can do this at any time by accessing your account or by contacting us at hello@Q-innovator.ai.
